

Montrese Adger Fuller: Senior Director of Development for Georgia State University Perimeter College

Montrese Adger Fuller leads the Perimeter College Development team which engages alumni, friends, retirees and corporations and foundations interested in partnering with Georgia State University Perimeter College. Montrese has over 17 years of development experience while working at various higher education institutions. Before joining Georgia State University, Montrese Adger Fuller enjoyed working in the annual fund areas at Howard University and Emory University. She then served in the major gift areas at the University of Georgia and Georgia Perimeter College. At Georgia State University, she is very passionate about securing private support from alumni, friends and corporations and foundations to provide support for students, faculty and programs at Georgia State University Perimeter College.

Montrese earned a Bachelor's of Arts in Psychology from Rutgers University in New Jersey and a Master's of Education in Psychology with Honors from Howard University in Washington D.C.

She is a native of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and she also lived in Washington Township, New Jersey in her earlier years. Montrese now calls Atlanta home after living in the area for 12 years with her family.