

Trina Olidge currently serves as Director of Development for the College of Arts and Sciences at Georgia State University. Over the past 15 years, she has worked in higher education to advance institutional priorities – connecting donors with causes they care about. Her experience from top-ranked institutions including Tulane Law School, University of Georgia and Morehouse School of Medicine provide depth and understanding of the changing academic landscape. With previous stints in law and business, Olidge is a proud graduate of Howard University, School of Business and the University of Georgia, School of Law. Inspired by the example of her parents, she brings authentic passion and commitment to the pursuit of excellence in education.